A Representative and Champion of American Art Taste!

PROSPECTUS FOR 1875

EIGHTH YEAR.

THE ALDINE,

THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA,

Issued Monthly.

A Magnificent Conception, wonderfully carried out.

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been felt, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably follow ill-timed attempts in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove the intelligence of the people of America to be ashamed high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the need and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, high, and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of The Aldine will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, The Aldine is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times the cost; and that, there is the Chromo, besides!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of The Aldine, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with The Aldine, is an important feature and its magnificent plates are of a style more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of landscape, marine, figure and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of The Aldine is a light and graceful accompaniment, worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical discussion as will interest without unpopularizing the work.

PREMIUM FOR 1875.

Every subscriber for 1875 will receive a beautiful portrait, in oil colors, of the same size as the above picture to a former issue attracted so much attention.

"MAN'S UNSELFISH FRIEND."

Will be welcome in every home. Everybody owns such a dog, and the portrait is executed as though the life, that it seems the veritable presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it. Although a mezzotint, all who see this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALDINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of

THE ALDINE ART UNION.

The Union owns the original of all The Aldine pictures, which, with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, two different pieces, valued at over $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full and the awards of each series so made, are to be published in the next succeeding issue of THE ALDINE. This feature only applies to subscribers who pay for one year in advance. Full particulars in circular sent on application enclosing a Stamp.

HORACE GREELEY'S GRAVE.—On the crest of Locust Hill, in Greenwood cemetery, is the grave of Horace Greeley, still unmarked and apparently uncared for. There is no mound over it; the line between the new laid sod and the old only distinguishing it from the rest of the hill. An iron park stool has been placed at the foot of the grave, and a small Fourth of July flag and the old cane of the great editor are by it. At the head of the grave are the remains of withered floral offerings and another faded flag. The spot is difficult to find, and the only information the laborers can give is that Mr. Greeley's grave is over by the fountain somewhere. If the trifles that marked it were removed the exact spot of the grave would soon become obliterated. Just beyond where a fountain plays is the splendid solid monument over the grave of S. B. Morse.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—A conference of prominent railroad officials was held in this city to-day. The proposal to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to become a party to the Saratoga contest was declined, but that road in conjunction with the others agreed to abolish all commission on tickets, and draw back on freights. It was indimated that the Baltimore and Ohio road would pursue, as heretofore, a conservative policy regarding transportation, and co-operate with the other lines in all legitimate measures of economy.

AN ESSAY.

On the Advantages of Red Clover. Read Before the N. C. Agricultural Society, Oct. 24th, 1874.

The nutritive matter, although less than from some of the grasses, is yet in the amount per acre, full equal, if not surpassing any other forage crop which is produced at the same expense. Land, in sufficient heart to produce two tons of Timothy, will produce three of Red Clover; and the Timothy is an exhauster, while the clover improves.

It is a most valuable food for stock of all kinds; calves and colts eat it greedily. Nicely cured clover, will be in better order in the Spring, than when taken off of pasture 1st Nov. and they never tire of it.

The greatest objection being, that the 2nd and 3rd growths salivate; this however, is not always the case; it affects stock that have been fed the entire season on it, but little. The salivation can in a great measure be remedied by using, in packing away after curing, 2 gal. salt to the ton, and by age. I have made but one experiment, but that proved, that clover that salivated fearfully when cut in July, one year after, was entirely free from it, which is a most valuable fact; it did not salivate at all this season, even in the green state, with me. When sown for forage, it should always be with orchard or some other highland grass; as by their aid, it can be more easily cured, and treated as other grasses in cocks; they preventing the penetration of water. Clover hay should never be stacked out, unless the stacks be well topped with meadow hay.

It is a fertilizer however, that it is so superior to other crops; all grain and corn do well after clover, and especially wheat, which rarely fails when following it. The thinest and most worn lands, which are amenable to the favorable action of plaster, (unfortunately all lands are not), may be speedily reclaimed, by deep and thorough plowing; and the use at first of commercial manures, to get a stand of clover, then after the leaves are sufficiently developed an application of 1 ton plaster per acre, applied the following spring as soon as the plant commences its growth; it will save the effort of a dressing of stable manure and double the yield.

It is generally conceded, that when land can be made to produce clover, the difficulty of improving is overcome.

When clover is intended for the improvement of the land; to derive the greatest benefit, it shall be neither cut, nor grazed, that it may extract from the atmosphere the greatest possible amount of vegetable matter, and its long tap root does much in improving the soil.

EDGAR ALLAN POE.—What has Baltimore to say in regard to the following singular statement which we find in the London Athenæum:

Some time since, an effort was made in the United States, chiefly in Baltimore and New York, to procure funds for the erection of a monument in honor of Edgar Poe, and a sum amounting, it is said, to about four thousand dollars was subscribed. An architect was chosen to execute the memorial, and he modeled a portrait of Poe, one of the essential features of the work, from a daguerreotype, the best record of the poet that is now in existence. We are informed that, at this stage of the proceedings, futher inquiries were made with regard to the project, and in order to make matters secure, the 'spirit' of Poe was evoked to give counsel in the affair. If we are further rightly informed, Poe's 'spirit,' not unadvisedly, it would seem declared that the time had not come yet for the erection of a memorial in stone of his work on earth. On this decision being given the whole scheme was stopped, and the execution of the monument adjourned sine die.

THE WORLD WITHOUT SUNDAY.

Think how the abstraction of Sunday would enslave the working classes, with whom we are indentified. Think of labor thus going on in one monotonous and eternal rack, fingers forever straining, the brow forever dropping, and the loins forever aching, the restless mind, forever scheming. Think of the beauty it would efface, the merry heartedness it would extinguish, the giant strength it would tame, the resources of nature it would crush, the sickness it would bring, of the project it would wreak, the groans it would extort, the lives it would immolate, and the cheerless graves it would prematurely dig; See them toiling and toiling and fretting and grinding and hewing, and weaving and spinning, sowing and gathering mowing and reaping, raising and building, digging and planting and striving and struggling, in the garden and in the granary and in the barn, in the factory and in the mill, in the warehouse and in the shop, in the mountains and in the ditch, on the roadside and in the country, out at sea and on shore, in the day of brightness and of gloom! What a picture this world would present if we had no Sabbath!

FROM THE ALTAR TO THE GRAVE.

For several days past preparations have been in active progress for the celebration of the nuptials between Answorth Yeaton, a young farmer, residing on the outskirts of Lowell, and Miss Dora Mayo, a young lady who has a millinery establishment on Merrimack street, and yesterday morning being the time set for the ceremony to take place a large gathering of the friends and relatives of the young couple assembled in the Little Church Around the Corner, on Twenty-fourth street, to witness the tying of the matrimonial knot. Everything pertaining to happiness pure and unalloyed for the youthful pair, and many were the congratulations of those present when the twain were pronounced man and wife. It was nearly noon when the ceremony was concluded, and the party left the church, the bride and groom proceeding first to a wedding lunch and shortly afterwards to Barnum's Hippodrome, where they remained throughout the afternoon performance, repairing at its termination to No. 494 Third avenue, the residence of some old friends of Mr. Yeaton. Arrived there nothing unusual was noticed in the conduct of the bridegroom. To all present he seemed in the best of spirits, and the terrible tragedy that ensued a few moments later was all the more appalling because of its entire unexpectedness. They had been in the house but about an hour, the time being 6 o'clock, when Yeaton stepped into an adjoining bedroom and closed the door, his wife remaining in the parlor conversing with her friends. In a few moments three ominous reports of a pistol in quick succession were heard, and the affrighted inmates, rushing to the door of the room, were horror-stricken at the ghastly sight of the newly married man lying on the bed weltering in his blood, a pistol lying by his side. The agonized wife, comprehending the awful tragedy, fell on his neck, her wedding garments receiving the fast flowing life blood of her unfortunate husband, and uttering a shriek that pierced the hearts of all who heard her, swooned away. Commotion and excitement indescribable ensued. One ran for a policeman, another for a doctor, others endeavored to revive the bride, and still others remained motionless as if petrified. In a little while the sought for medical aid arrived and every effort was made to save the dying suicide, but his lips were sealed in unconsciousness though his pulse still showed signs of life. The young lady, recovering from her swoon, broke loose again from those around, and throwing herself upon the body of her almost lifeless husband, clung to it in wild despair. It was truly a piteous sight. The officer and others endeavored to have her release her hold, but in vain. She screamed excitedly, and loud above her wanderings could be distinguished the pathetic sentence, indicative of her great mental agony, 'I shall die with my husband.' It was many minutes before the poor woman sufficiently recovered from her paroxysms to listen to reason; but she was finally coaxed away by the argument that unless she desisted his life was irretrievably lost. When comparative quiet was restored an investigation revealed two bullet wounds, one in the right temple and one in the heart, either of which would undoubtedly prove fatal. The man's vest was open and his shirt blackened by the powder, making it evident that he had purposely opened it and closely pressed the muzzle of the weapon to his heart and fired. The bullet in the temple penetrated deep into the brain, making a frightful wound. It is thought he shot himself in the heart first, and fearing it would not prove fatal, immediately afterwards placed the pistol to his head and fired. Three reports were heard altogether, as above mentioned. The bullet was found in the wall, having probably glanced off from his watch, was deeply indented, and struck where found. At about 8 o'clock the suicide was removed in an ambulance to Bellevue Hospital, still unconscious and rapidly expiring. Up to half-past 11 o'clock, strange to relate, he was living; but his medical attendants were in momentary expectation of his death. No cause has as yet been assigned by his friends for the rash act.—New York Herald.

Among lost articles recently found by Paris police, and advertised by them, was a bride. The advertisement said: 'There was found yesterday at midday a bride, eighteen years, blue eyes, black hair. Can be obtained on application at police headquarters.' She was a country girl who came to Paris with her betrothed to get married. They took a cab at the station. On the way to the church the man got out to make some purchase. The driver was tipsy, and, instead of waiting, drove on, as they were separated in the wilderness, and the police found the bride weeping in the cab.

MILLIE'S ESCAPADE.

BY ATTEE.

'You don't care?'

'No.'

'It was a lovely June morning, the spring breath of the lovely scenting the fresh, sweet air, but all the beauty and sweetness was lost on the speakers of the foregoing little dialogue. Millie Damer, tossed up her pretty brown head, and face, too, for that matter—as this ever pair were all brown, save her cherry red lips, between which shone the daintiest little pearls of teeth you ever saw—looked defiance in the eyes of her companion, a young gentleman, who surveyed her with a pair of cool, gray ones; then replying to the decided 'No:'

'Why not?'

'Because I don't choose to care.'

'But, Millie, I think you might care. It is not a very hard task I ask of you.'

'Not very hard. When I must not speak civilly to any other man but you?' returned the offended damsel.

'I did not say to be uncivil; I merely requested you not to flirt with them,' said her companion, gravely. And really, Millie, I have some cause to complain.'

'Indeed, sir, I am sorry, that I occasion you so much distress,' replied Millie, with a stately courtesy. Then suddenly, as she saw an angry look come into her lover's eyes, resolved to be the first to make peace, she continued: 'But if you have nothing to say but to make complaints of my flirting, why I'll go in.' And suiting the action to the word, she darted past him, and ran swiftly up the steps, disappearing within the house.

Frank Courtney, on being left alone, looked more hurt than angry, now. He stood still for a moment, doubting whether to follow Millie, or to return homeward, and finally chose the latter.

A tall, handsome fellow was Frank Courtney, with his erect figure, straight features, clear, fair skin, crisp, curly hair and the smartest little moustache of golden brown; but, perhaps, the handsomest feature in Frank's face was his eyes. They were gray, with the merriest and, at the same time, most agreeable expression, dancing in their clear, cool depths. Of good family, tolerably wealthy, the rising young lawyer was eagerly sought after, especially by match making mammas. But Frank hitherto had resisted all attempts to enslave him, till, coming to spend the vacation at Winburn, he met Millie Damer, the minister's niece, the belle of the village, as well as the sunbeam of the parsonage; fell deeply in love with the charming little sprite, and an acquaintance of six weeks had terminated in an engagement.

It was but natural that a quarrel should come, just to clear the air and make love brighter than before, and to tell the truth, they had a good many of these little trials of temper, for Millie was considerable of a flirt, and the best and tenderest of lovers do object to these trials. But this quarrel threatened to be more serious than any that had yet occurred, for when Frank next rang the parsonage bell and asked for Miss Millie, as usual, it was with no very pleasant expression of countenance that he heard Anna, the hired girl, say: 'Och, sure, Mister Courtney, Miss Millie went out a riding wid young Mister Gilderoy more nor an hour agone.' Nor did the expression of his face improve when, on reaching the highway, he caught a glimpse of Millie, looking wonderfully pretty in a green riding habit, with the jauntiest little cap and white feather, and heard her sweet silvery voice replying to some remark of Mr. Gilderoy's as she dashed out of sight, mounted on her spirited little bay. Feeling rather savage, Frank lit a cigar and strolled leisurely, hoping to soothe his turbulent spirit in the calm evening, trying to interest himself in the melancholy notes of the whippoorwill that plaintively resounded from the well wooded hills that surrounded the lovely little village of Winburn.

He had walked some time unconsciously, for evening had deepened to night, and star after star had come out, twinkling brightly down on the dejected lover, ere he turned to retrace his steps, when Frank heard the sound of horse's roofs coming rapidly along the road. He listened. Then out rang the shrill cry of some one in distress. 'Good heavens! Could it be Millie?' he thought. Yes, flying madly down the road, eyes shining, nostrils distended, the whole body quivering with excitement and fear, the startled animal came.

Collecting all his energies, Frank waited till the boy was close to him, then with a quick bound, he succeeded in grasping the bridle, and in a few seconds stopped the horse, rescuing Millie from a terrible death, for once into the woods she would have been dashed to pieces. But thanks to Frank's providential aid, our little heroine escaped uninjured.

It was a very silent meeting, and a moment later Will Gilderoy, overwhelmed with dismay, joined them, and to him Frank gave the charge of leading home the horse, assuring him of Miss Millie's safety, and as she declined to ride home, he would attend her in walking there. And so with protestations of sorrow and regret Gilderoy rode off.

The story of the runaway was this: In coming out of a lane they came suddenly on a Gypsy encampment; Millie's horse took fright and ran away. The rest the reader knows.

Three months later Millie and Frank were married, and this was really Millie's last flirtation.

'Millie,' said Frank, on the evening of their wedding day, 'do you know that I am glad your horse ran away; for I don't think we would have been married if it had not.'

'I don't know about that,' replied Millie, 'I guess I would have had to marry you anyway.'

And, reader, I think so, too.

HIS IDEA OF IT.

General Jackson, when President, said to one of his fiercest newspaper opponents: 'Send me your newspaper. I know that you are opposed to me, but as I should like to see your paper every day, I want to see how many lies you can tell in one.' 'General,' said the editor, 'I think I am right in opposing you, and I shall continue to do so with all the ability of which I am master.' 'He was a firm editor Jackson's own heart, and he replied with an oath, 'Sir, send me your paper, for aside from your abuse of me your paper is a good one. Besides, I never saw a newspaper in which I could not find something worth reading.' Just so. No man can pick up any newspaper without finding something of interest. You may take the paper and tear it into fragments, and in each fragment you will see something to enlighten or instruct you.

The largest vaulted roof in the world is claimed by Vienna—that belonging to the great Exposition building. It is said to cover nine times the space of the dome of St. Paul's, in London, eight times the area of St. Peter's, and seven times that of St. Sophia, at Constinople. The miracle of architectural skill is 360 in feet in diameter, 1,089 feet round, and stands on a ring of thirty columns thirty-six feet apart all around the circumference. Within the ring of columns there is no support. The upper dome, one hundred feet in diameter, admits light by a series of windows forty feet high and ten feet wide, between thirty columns which carry the upper dome. The slope of the cone is thirty degrees, and the length of the slope on all sides is two hundred feet. The roof is formed of three hundred and sixty iron plate, tapering uniformly upward from the circumference to the apex of the cone.

A squaw sat down on the curb in front of the postoffice at Austin, Nevada, the other day, and unrolling a bundle of calico, began the manufacture of a dress. In less than an hour the dress was finished, and putting it on over her old clothes, the squaw pulled out a pin here, a pin there, and untied a string in another place, made one step, and, presto! the old clothes lay in the gutter. Gathering up the rags just shed, the noble daughter of the forest cast one look of triumph on the spectators and skipped gracefully off in the direction of the Indian camp.

WEDNESDAY.....NOV. 25, 1874.

☞ Our readers will please excuse the want of editorial matter in this issue. The pressure of other duties, to some extent now, has interfered with our usual attention to our columns, but hereafter there will be no complaint on that account.

☞ The Governor's Message was read in the House of Representatives. It is too long for publication, and there is no room for comment.

☞ The Legislature is fairly at work, and much business has been presented. It is too early to make comments, or to indicate any action to be taken. The Committees will report in due time, and then work will be expected.

THE HARRIS CASE.

It is understood that Gov. Brogden will soon serve the requisite papers on Solicitor Harris to appear and show cause why he should not be removed from office, for violating the laws of the State in refusing to draw up bills of indictment against Tim Lea. We believe Gov. Brogden is disposed to do his duty conscientiously, and with as much freedom from party bias as could be expected.

PROMISING MEMBERS.

The House is a stronger body than anticipated, most of its members are new, to Legislative history, but many of them will be prominent before the State in a short time. Among those who already have come forward prominently are Messrs Strong of Wake, McRae of Cumberland, Tate of Burke, Gudger of Madison, Walker of Rockingham, Staples of Guilford, Pinnix of Davidson, and others whose names might be mentioned with commendation.

THE DISASTER ON THE BAY.

Only one special remark is to be made about an accident which is exceptional on a line that has been used for a half a century with unparralled safety; and that is, the excellent discipline which existed, and which resulted in the rescue of all the passengers, and the saving of all the baggage and valuables. The public will draw a contrast between this case and that of the Ville de Paris, which ocourred some months ago, and where panic and confusion marked the conduct of captain, crew and passengers. The Bay line has added another claim to its high character, and an accident, unavoidable on its part, has become another bid for popularity.

THE ARKANSAS TROUBLE.

The President will not interfere in this matter, and no notice will be taken of Smith's pretensions to the governorship. The government is moving on quietly and admirably.

The difficulty of managing the President says the Norfolk Landmark, is now the great concern of the Republican managers. So far from abandoning the third term idea, he clings to it more firmly than ever. It was only the other day that, in conversation on the subject, he declared that no one could foresee what would happen in the next two years; that the White Leagues might be making war on the Government, and thus making his re-election a necessity. Believing, as he evidently does, that his pathway to power lies through sectional conflict, he will it is feared, do all he can to bring it about, as he has just done in the late canvass.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Senate proceeded in body to the Hall of the House of Representatives to take into consideration the vote for Superintendant of Public Instruction. Col. Armfield was granted leave of absence for one week, Col. Morehead of Guilford, will preside in his absence.

House.—Col. John D. Cameron, of Orange, was elected Principal Clerk.

The two Houses went into a joint session to compare the vote for Superintendent of Public Instruction. Col. Pool was declared elected by a majority of 14,021. J H Hill of Randolph, was elected Principal Doorkeeper, and J P McDowell, Assistant. Maj. W J Barrett of Lenoir, was elected Engrossing Clerk.

Senate.—Capt. B P Mast was elected Enrolling Clerk. The day was spent in considering a resolution in regard to constitutional amendments and the calling of a Convention.

House.—Besides several special resolutions the following bills were introduced:

A bill in relation to Amnesty.

A bill to prevent usury.

A bill for the more effective prosecution of offenders before criminal courts.

A bill to enforce the performance of contracts.

A bill to protect laborers.

A bill to amend the county act.

A bill for the protection of bridges.

A bill to fix the per diem, same as last session, except, the actual traveling expenses instead of mileage.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THE CONVENTION QUESTION.

Senate.—Mr. Waring's resolution, upon its second reading, in reference to the appointment of a joint committee to consider the necessary amendments, if any there be, to the Constitution of the State, came up.

Mr. Waring advocated its passage.

Mr. Busbee moved to lay upon the table, giving as his reason that the question was premature; that the Legislature was not prepared for its constituents were opposed to a Convention.

Mr. Kerr moved that this committee be instructed to report after the Christmas recess.

Mr. Busbee moved to indefinitely postpone the question.

Mr. Parish thought now was the time for the Senate to bring the question before the people, in order that they might consider the question, and decide as to what they want.

Mr. Stanford thought it best that the matter be not indefinitely postponed, but that some action be taken which will cause the people to think.

Mr. Busbee withdrew his motion to indefinitely postpone and moved that the committee be instructed to report on the 15th day of December.

Mr. Bell thought the committee should be allowed to report at pleasure. He did not think any harm could be done by a free discussion of the question.

Mr French thought the committee ought to be appointed. The matter ought to be considered by the Legislature and by the people, and he was willing to trust the committee to report in its discretion. His people were divided, but he thought the people did not understand the question and desired a discussion upon it.

Mr. Waring further advocated his motion. He did not wish to commit himself to the question of a Convention, but wanted to learn the views of the people and the members of the Legislature.

Mr. Busbee explained his reasons for wishing a postponement. He did not want any action taken until the matter had been thoroughly discussed and the members had decided what they desired doing.

Mr. Mills thought the people favored the measure—there were twenty-five thousand majority of the people of the State who favored it. He opposed the postponement of the question as it would demoralize the people. The Convention of 1871 was defeated by the hesitancy of the Legislature, and the only opposition he found was 'the fear that somebody else would be opposed to it.'

Mr. Latham represented in part seven counties, and he desired to know what his people thought of the question. At present they were opposed to it, and he desired to ascertain their wishes. But in advocating the appointment of a committee he did not commit himself to the measure itself. He wanted a fair expression of the people upon the subject.

Mr. Graham did not want its consideration postponed. Let it be considered by the committee proposed.

Mr. Bell personally opposed a Convention, but he was perfectly willing to have the matter fully considered and discussed, in order that he for one might learn the wishes of his constituents.

Mr. Cooke, of Franklin, would vote for the committee, but did not consider himself committed to vote for a Convention. He wanted full information upon the subject.

Mr. Linney thought the committee should be appointed, as he thought that the committee would consider the question in all its bearings. He was for amendments in the Constitution by one means or another.

Mr. McElroy favored amendments, and wanted the question as to the means considered, and would vote for the original resolution.

Mr. Marler moved to postpone until to-day week.

Mr. Albright would vote for the original resolution, but thought his people were opposed to a Convention.

The motion to postpone to a certain day was defeated.

The motion to postpone until after the Christmas holidays was lost.

Mr. Shelby was opposed to the original resolution.

Mr. Love moved to postpone until Monday next. Defeated.

The original resolution, to appoint a joint committee to report any necessary amendments to the Constitution, the committee to be composed of eight from the Senate and thirteen from the House, was then adopted.

☞ The Raleigh News says: The meanest unkindest cut of all is, that when Senator Ed. Cantwell, of New Hanover, voted for Mabson, the colored Edgecombe Senator, for President of that body, Mabson did not return the compliment. Mabson should not have treated his 'friend and brother' in that way.

☞ T. W. Kerr, Esq., President of the N. C. Tobacco Association, at the suggestion of W. T. Blackwell and Co. will call the next meeting of the Association at Durham, when the new factory of W. T. Blackwell & Co. is completed.

☞ Thursday the 26th inst. is appointed a day of thanksgiving and prayer. Let us all be thankful!

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19—Night—The Returning Board found the returns of St. James' parish correct until reaching roll seven, which showed 100 more votes for Beers, Independent Republicans, for Senator, and others than were accredited them by the daily lists in the hands of the Conservative Committee, and the latter protested against the count being received, on grounds of fraud already. A member of the Committee presented a statement in writing, showing that he could prove that the returns from St. James' parish had been taken out of the hands of the Secretary of State after their original delivery. He disclaimed any intention of charging the Secretary of State with knowingly committing any wrong, but he could prove that the returns had been so removed. Considerable excitement ensued when the second return from the same roll was discovered agreeing with the statement kept by the Conservatives, thus proving that the returns had been tampered with. The latter returns were counted by the Board and the protest was withdrawn.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18—Night—Mr. Arrago, who was seated yesterday as a member of the Returning Board, now says that the responsibility is too great for only one Conservative member, and if another is not appointed within 24 hours he will resign. The returns from St. James' parish are being canvassed to-day.

The divers of the bell boat Osage, on examining the wreck of the steamer Empire this morning, saw, wedged in among the freight on deck, some ten or twelve dock hands. The divers were unable to gain admission into the staterooms on account of obstructions by freight. It is now believed that the loss of life will reach between thirty and forty. One body was recovered to-day, that of a deck hand.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says:

Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, who is here for a few days on professional business, called on the President to-day to pay his respects.—The President good-naturedly alluded to the recent Democratic tidal wave which had swept west and east of Indiana, the Atlantic and Pacific oceans alone arresting its progress.—"But," said the President, "we shall be ready for you in 1876." Secretary Fish philosophically said the next Presidential election was no further off than the last implying that the power of recuperation was still left to the Republican party.

Governor Hendricks declined to be interviewed. His opinion of the cause of the overwhelming success of the Democratic party would not change the result and individual explanations were of little consequence when the man of the country voted right. The Governor will not, under any circumstances, accept the position of United States Senator from Indiana.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—Noon—The robbers of the American Express office, in this city, have finally confessed where they secreted their plunder, and late last night it was found concealed in the woods some distance north of the city. It is believed that nearly all the stolen money has been recovered, though it has not yet been counted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Noon—The steam tug Lilly exploded here, killing five, and fatally scalding Captain Havens.

There were several cases of assault yesterday, by the striking longshoremen, upon persons who were not even looking for work. Further assaults by them are expected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Noon—At a special meeting to-day of the Importer's and Grocer's Board of Trade it was decided to send a committee of three to the Cheap Transportation Convention to be held at Richmond, Va., December 1st.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Noon—The Commissioner of Agriculture says the demand for semi-tropical fruits for experiment in the Southern States is very great and beyond the ability of the Department to supply. The Chinese tea plant is especially in demand and many thousand of young plants have been distributed during the past year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Night—The signal office in this city is in receipt of the following telegram from the Sergeant in charge of the Cape Henry Station: A large buoy, supposed to be the channel maker, came ashore one mile south of Lynn Haven Bay.

In regard to the second dispatch sent by order of the President to the Governor of Texas, it is stated that, without forming or expressing any opinion as to whether or not Santanta had violated his parole, the President and Secretary Delano, fearing that he might be executed before the evidence could be fully collected, considered it merely just to delay his execution. It is to-day ascertained that during Gov. Davis' incumbency, the sentence of Santanta was commuted from death to imprisonment for life. Under this commutation he has lately been placed in the Texas penitentiary.

WASHINGTON, November 18—The President will commence the writting of his annual message to Congress next week, by which time he expects to have laid before him the annual reports of the heads of the executive departments. There are many subjects of great national import and which will probably be urged upon the attention of Congress. Although this will be the short session there are measures which demand the action of Congress at once, and it is hoped that it will be accorded so as to avoid the necessity of a year's delay or a special session of the new Congress.

For the first time in some years the report of the Secretary of the Treasury will be a consistent document throughout; that is the reports of the bureau officers will not be found filled as heretofore with general recommendations at variance with the Secretary's views.

Negro Burnt to Death.

Barn Burnt.

Mr W. G. Lella of this County had the misfortune to lose his barn, house, cattle, and all his forage by fire a few days since. The work of an incendiary without doubt.

Terrible Tragedy.

We learn from the Observer, a terrible tragedy took place near Salisbury, which resulted in the death of two persons, one a negro and the other his intended victim. The negro entered the house of Mr. Caleb Setzer and demanded his money, and when resisted in his impudent demands, fired upon Mr. Setzer, inflicting a wound, when the pistol was knocked up and wrenched from his hands by Mrs. Setzer, with whose assistance, Mr S. succeeded in overpowing his assailant. They unfortunately listened to the piteous appeals of the robber to spare his life, and commenced to rise him, when drawing suddenly a large knife, he made a second murderous attack on Mr. Setzer, inflicting fatal wounds, from which he died the next day. While the rubber was stabbing her husband, the heroic wife gathered up a stone from the hearth and floored him, and then struck him with a shovel several blows, which put an end to his existence.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury was in accordance with the above facts. The brave and heroic conduct of Mrs. Setzer is entitled to the highest praise, and she has the sympathy of the whole community.

The Statesville Landmark says, "The promotion of Mr Johnston Jones, for a long time the able editor of the Charlotte Observer, to the Principal Clerkship of the Senate, and Mr. Winston, of the Albemarle Times, to the Reading Clerkship of the same body, and Maj Cameron, of the Hillsboro Recorder, and Col. Hardy, of the Asheville Citizen, to the same positions in the House we accept as a recognition of the status of the Press. We congratulate our fortunate brethren, and likewise the Legislature upon securing such worthy and efficient officers."

The Charlotte Observer says, "We learn that Messrs. Wilson & Walker, have purchased here [illegible] and will remove it to this city. All the buildings on the lower end of the canal were destroyed, including the flour and meal mills, the machine shops of J. W. Ramsey, the carriage factory of Chas. Chaney, the cooperage factory, occupied by W. H. Jones & Co, and the machine shops of Tillett & Crowley.

Hearn, Brem, Sanderlin & Co; being the owners of all the buildings, and such of the valuable machinery, are of course the heaviest losers. The value of the property destroyed, with steam power, rented for $2,000 a year. Mr. J. W. Ramsey was probably the next heaviest loser. His valuable machinery is estimated at $8,000. The firm of W. H. Jones & Co. had all their machinery destroyed, and about 35,000 pounds of tobacco, worth some five to six thousand dollars. Messrs. Jefferson & Crawley lose about $1,500 worth of machinery. Chas. Chaney's loss is estimated at several hundred dollars; Mr. Morton's is very slight.

Various parties had flour, wheat and corn at the mills. Mr. J. W. Holland stands at the head of the list with 323 bushels Mr. S. J. Marks, the proprietor of the mills, had 70 barrels of flour consumed.

There was no insurance on any of the property destroyed.

It is estimated that at least fifty persons are thrown out of employment.

We take the above from Danville Times.

A Hint.

The Science of Health thus calls attention to a fact which cannot be too frequently enforced on people's minds; The pernicious habit of breathing through the mouth while sleeping or waking is very hurtful. There are many persons who sleep with the mouth open, and do not know it. They may go to sleep with it closed, and awake with it closed; but if the mouth is dry and parched on waking, it is a sign that it has been open during sleep. Snoring is another sure sign. This habit should be overcome. At all times, except when eating, drinking or speaking, keep the mouth firmly closed, and breathe through the nostrils, and retire with a firm determination to conquer. The nostrils are the proper breathing apparatus—not the mouth. A man may inhale poisonous gases through the mouth without being aware of it, but not through the nose.'

Sudden Death.

Under this head the Richmond Whig of yesterday's date says: "A telegram to this city announced the sudden death yesterday morning, at Charlottesville, of William R. Empie, Esq; of Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Empie was the youngest son of the late Dr. Adam Empie, for many years rector of St. Jame's church in this city. He was born in Richmond, where he passed his childhood and young manhood, and is affectionately remembered by hundreds of his old companions, who will hear with saddened hearts the sad tidings of his death. On Monday last Mr. Empie passed through Richmond en route to the University of Virginia to attend the bedside of a near relative, a student at the University, who has been critically ill for several days past."

The remains of Mr. Empie will arrive here this evening, and the funeral will take place to-morrow, further particulars of which will appear in the papers of Sunday morning.—Star.

A strange potato was found at Nunda N. Y; recently, which the Danville Advertiser describes as follows: "It was dug in that town, weighed about three pounds, and contained within itself a very singular thing. A stem like something protruding from one end was seen to move as if it had life. The potato was cut open, and the stem was found to be the tail of a something inside which seemed to be half potato and half animal. It was about as large as a mouse, with a brown color, was shaped like a potato, with indentations like potato eyes, and yet seemed to be composed of animal flesh; and had life and motion. No one had seen anything at all resembling it. It was to be taken to Rochester and shown to scientists.

As it is very doubtful about Santa Claus visiting Hillsboro this Christmas, as he has took his departure to the cold regions to get married on Christmas eve; but before he took his departure he did not forget to send a full supply of valuable gifts and Presents to his Head Quarter in Hillsboro. Many nice and valuable presents have already arrived for his little folks, and will continue to arrive every WEEK UNTIL CHRISTMAS DAY, such as Toys of every description, French and common Candies; Apples, Raisins, Figs, Cocoanuts, Nuts of every kind, Lemons, Oranges, Accordeons, Harps, and most every conceivable article in the fancy line. He sends greeting to all his friends, and wishes them all a happy Christmas; and his last request is for everybody to call at his Head Quarter and get supplied for Christmas Holidays.

In addition to Santa Claus' goods, we keep constantly on hand the best Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, and the finest imported Cigars.

We will receive in a few days our lot of Fire Works, such as Crackers, Torpedoes, Roman candles, Sky Rockets, Sulfide vile, Blue-lights and every description of Fire Works. We will also have on hand a full supply of Fine Groceries, expressly for Christmas. In fact we can supply you with most all you shall want; so we beg both Ladies and Gentlemen, and everybody else, to call and examine our stock. Our young Mr. Rosemond, will be at his post ready to wait on all who may call. Allow us in conclusion to return our sincere thanks to our customers for the very liberal patronage for the last 12 months and beg for a continuance of the same.

AN ESSAY.

On the Accumulation, Preparation and Application of the Stock Yard and Stable Manure, Delivered before the N. C. Agricultural Society on Wednesday Oct. 14th 1874.

The first thing to be considered is, good shelter from weather and rack for feeding. Manure made under shelter, by actual experiment, is worth more than double that out of doors. Cattle will require less feed and keep in better order, and the better the condition of the animal the richer the manure. By cutting and stacking in Sept. and Oct. all corn to be followed by small grain, the stalks restacked when the corn is pulled off, they may be hauled to the cattle pen as needed, furnishing food for the cattle as well as an abundance of litter for manure. They will eat much of it, being cut and cured with the juices in it, the residue making fine litter. To 1st Jan. feed shucks, wheatstraw, &c, in racks; much of the straw they wont eat; that use for bedding or litter. After 1st Jan. throw what stalks you may not have needed for litter, in the cut yard, with all briars cut in clearing fields for crop, with leaves and such other material as may be had; to be run over tramped by wagon cattle &c. for litter the coming Spring and Summer. For rest assured when crop time arrives, you will find no time to accumulate litter. 1st April you may commence hauling out your shed manure for corn. You will have a large quantity of coarse, half rotten, unfermented manure. For hoed crops it should be used in as fresh condition as possible and all the gasses which are set free in fermentation, are combined and firmly held in the soil.

I would open the corn beds with a two horse plow, using the coarse manure in drill, putting a hoe full of dirt over it where the corn is to be dropped; it secures its coming up; the whole to be thoroughly covered; this manure will furnish food for the plant through the season; in the fall, cut and stack corn as before; run a two horse plow bar each side of the corn roots, then under corn row throwing out the whole mass, of roots, and well rotted manure; plow across the beds, then harrow, and you have your land prepared for seeding, and your manure about equally distributed.

As soon as your pens are cleared out in April, commence littering (not too much at a time) with the half rotted material in the yard; have all stock (except sheep) penned under shelter at night through Summer, run them around the pen at day light, again at sunrise, before turning out; and you will be amazed at the quantity of manure dropped by them managed in this way.

In the absence of sufficient vegetable matter for litter, use dry earth, there is nothing better, using leaves, pine straw or some such material for bedding. Should your pens become two full for comfort, throw the manure out, being careful to mix sufficient earth to absorb all gasses. By Sept., it is well rotted, and ready for using broad cast for grain or grass, or composting with earth for top dressing grass through the winter. All animal manure should be carefully protected against sun and rain, and never applied to the surface, unless first mixed with earth and thoroughly decomposed. After applying raw manure it should be plowed under as speedily as possible to prevent evaporation. I make yearly, between two and three hundred 4 horse loads of manure by this management.

JAS. NORWOOD.

A COLORED BISHOP.—The consecration took place last night at Grace church, New York city, of the first colored bishop recognized by the Protestant Episcopal church. He will represent the foreign church in the island of Hayti, which for the first time is to have a bishop, and on whom the "succession" is to be conferred by the American episcopate. The candidate is Rev. James Theodore Holly, D. D; of Port-au-Prince, a native Haytien clergyman of rare attainments, whom the colored churchmen of that island have selected to occupy the new office in their body. Dr. Holly is a genuine colored person, about forty-years of age, and impresses those who have never met him most favorably. The Episcopal church in Hayti contains about fifteen clergymen and parishes, and is the largest religious body there. By the consecration of Dr. Holly the Episcopal church in this country does not assume any responsibility in Hayti, but only becomes the "parent church" in making a bishop for it. The incident is regarded as peculiarly interesting.

"It is a standing rule in my church," said one clergyman to another, "for the sexton to wake any man that he may see asleep." "I think," returned the other, "that it would be much better for the sexton, whenever a man goes to sleep under your preaching, to wake you up."

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The following symptoms proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence on these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, are subject to paralysis of the Nerves and Partial Loss of Motion. One dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS relieves the Painter, Type-setter or Miner, from the effects of Poisonous Minerals.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scaldhead, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
